This was an informative event led by Mr Little to help parents support their children in maths. The talk was very informative and we hope those who attended found it helpful.

Up and coming events-

Please see the calendar below for important dates.

May we bring your attention to the mock SATs week; an opportunity for children to experience the tests before May so they will know what to expect and how it will be run. We also hope that it will alleviate any stress or worry about the tests, so that in May, the children will feel confident and able to do their best. However, the mock SATs week is also an opportunity for us to assess which areas we need to address and support children with and is part of our ongoing assessment of children's progress.
